AT THIS SEASON OF THE YEAR—all who are disposed to biliousness should heed the first warning symptoms, for delay is very liable to lead to either intermittent or bilious fever, or the more distinct form of malaria, Chills and Fever. If the liver is kept in a healthy condition it is impossible for malaria in any form to fasten itself upon the system. It is much easier to avoid such serious and tedious diseases than to get rid of them after they have developed.

Schenck's Malaria Pills are the most effective regulators of the liver. There is no other remedy so delicate in its action and at the same time so harmless. A single dose will relieve headache in one or two hours, and may prevent a serious fit of sickness. Or, if the case has progressed until fever, nausea, loss of appetite, constipation, &c., have compelled the patient to stop for repairs, a course of treatment as prescribed by the directions accompanying each box of Malaria Pills will soon restore the liver, stomach and bowels to their proper action.

Schenck's Spring Tonic cures debility, "spring fever" and indigestion. Schenck's Pulmonary Syrup cures coughs and colds, and expels disease and impurities from the lungs. These three preparations, used as directed, are the STANDARD REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Schenck & Son, corner Sixth and Arch Streets, Philadelphia, and for sale by all Druggists.—May.

Bankrupt Bankrupt!
A splendid line of Jap. Gun, Powder, Gunpowder and Black Lead at Bankrupt prices. Call at MILLER'S SMITH & Co.

The Emperor Alexander seems to have interceded the convictions of Peter the Great. Peter looked upon Russia as called upon to establish her authority over all Europe, and her invasion of the West and the East as a decree of Divine providence, while Alexander has felt called upon to invade Turkey in Europe and in Asia for the protection of the Christians which the other powers were permitting Turkey to slaughter. The Czar believes that Russian rule is indispensable to the avoidance of incalculable calamities with which the Christian population of Turkey is threatened. If his armies cannot be driven out of Turkey and we do not believe that they can, then it is possible for Alexander to realize what Peter believed would one day be necessary for the peace of Europe.

Republicanism is a failure in Europe and the limited Monarchies are not able to keep the peace between themselves. They were either too weak or too jealous of each other to attempt to compel Turkey to respect the Christians, nor have they been able to keep the King of the North from their very doors. If therefore, Russian despotism is established over Turkey, and all Europe should be called upon to acknowledge Alexander as successor to Constantine and should find him wielding the sceptre in Constantinople with greater power than that great first son of the church did in the fourth Century, the world need not be surprised. Eminent writers hold that it is Russia's mission to reduce all the nations of Europe and western Asia and perhaps of the old world except China may be England and her dependencies to obedience to her will and hold supremacy until England, through her policy, shall have made it possible for the Jews to claim recognition as one of the powers of the East. When a terrible conflict between England, her dependencies and her allies on one side, and Russia with her powerful allies on the other side had in driving the Northern invader back to his former regions reduced to submission, jointly with England to the rule of the Jews whose mission it is to hold the balance of power between Europe and Asia. This view is held by very many Bible historians, and that England fears that Russia may establish herself in the East is manifest, while it has long been the ambition of Russia to hold Constantinople and thus compel all Europe to pay homage to her autocrat. The times are full of meaning.

PAPA IS COMING HOME!
(Western Pain Journal.)
Five little noses against the pane, Five pairs of eyes peering down the lane, Trying to see through the mist and rain, If papa is coming home.

he shook on the mantle had just struck four,
Which tells they've to wait one half hour more.
Before the train with its rattle and roar, Will bring their papa home.

Five little faces—clean and sweet, Dimpled fingers and dancing feet, Well-brushed jackets and aprons neat,
For papa is coming home.

Over the track with its lights so bright,
The long train glides in its rapid flight,
And five little children are happy to-night,
For papa is coming home.

The whistle sounds, the gate's awning, Foot-steps clatter and voices ring, Red lips kiss and white arms cling,
For papa has come home.

CANTASTO ETHIS.
(Shalington Hawkeye.)
errone.

Oh, he was a sweet, young, lissome man,
And he moved with a tender grace;
An' a smile like the sweep of an angel's wing Play'd over his fair young face.

ANTISTROPH.
"I sing," he said, and the editor bowed,
For he loved the sweetest young thing;
"I bring," he murmured, "a poet's song, A lay of the balmy spring."
CLIMAX.

Then the editor gathered his cresset aw,
And the nail grab, all the same;
He hid sledge hammer, the long crowbar,
And the club with the terrible name.

CATASTROPHE.
He saw him in two, and he flattened him out He tore out each quivering lung;
He pinned him up to the sanctum wall, So scattered, and yet so young.

It is sickening to read of the frauds In the Fall River defalcations.

THE INDEPENDENT FARMER.
Let silencers of windy deep, Let soldiers praise their armor, In my heart's best I'll keep
The honest and the truest farmer.
When that the rose, in robe of green, Unfolds its crimson lining;
And round his cottage porch is seen The honey-suckle climbing; When banks of bloom their sweetness yield To bees that gather honey, He drives his team across the field, When skies are soft and sunny;

The blackbird creaks behind the plough The quail pipes loud and clearly, You orchard hides behind its boughs
The honest and the truest farmer.
The green and old barn-doors unfold His simple store in measure, More rich than heaps of hoarded gold,
A precious, blessed treasure; While a yonder in the porch there stands The wife, the lovely chamber, The sweetest roses on all his lands—
The independent farmer.

To him the spring comes dancingly, To him the summer dushes,
The autumn smiles with yellow ray, His sleep is sweet and lush, He cares not how the world may move No doubts or fears enfold him;
His little flock is linked in love,
And household angels round him.
He trusts so God and loves his wife, Nor chief nor fills may harm her, He's nature's nobleman in life—
The independent farmer.

Joy to the World.—The afflicted may now rejoice. A safe, certain and effectual antidote to malaria has been found. Charles Crawford's Remedy is a perfect remedy against all diseases caused by malaria. It not only breaks the chill, but thoroughly eradicates the poison. Its action is truly wonderful; it cures malarious diseases of every kind—Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Peri-cited Headache and Bilious Fevers of all kinds. It is purely vegetable and as harmless as water. Try it and be convinced.

Washington, April 21.—Congressmen of prominence in both of the existing political parties share, to a large degree, the sentiments credited to Secretary McCraty, in effect that the next President of the United States will be elected by the House of Representatives, owing to the failure of either party to have a majority of all of the electoral votes. That is, they believe that the side issues, which are now being agitated, will split up the Republican and Democratic parties to an extent that will prevent either of them from controlling a majority of the whole number of electors appointed, and thereby by throw the election into the House of Representatives.

We have a small house and two lots in W. Rolla that we wish to sell for $125. Particulars may be made.

Our Washington Letter.
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 25, 78.
The scenes witnessed before the Senate and House Committees on Patents last Friday recalled to mind the early days when Morse under great difficulties was seeking to interest Congress in the construction of the first telegraph line between this city and Baltimore.
The master genius of this later occasion was Thomas A. Edison, who sat at the table before the Phonograph, his latest invention, and one that has made his name world wide. This young man just past thirty has already taken out 153 patents, mostly in telegraphy and electrical apparatus. The Committee rooms were filled with Senators, members, men and women from among the most cultured and scientific in the land. All eyes were upon the beardless Edison whose shaggy brown hair stood out at every angle in spite of comb and brush. His eyes of piercing gray looked out from under a high arched forehead, while his prominent nose and nervous finger suggested the artisan just in from his work-shop. The Phonograph is a cylinder covered with small spiral grooves at the end is a crank by which it may be turned. The speaking disk or diaphragm rests against the cylinder and on the outer side is a mouth-piece, on the inner side of this a delicate steel point is adjusted so as to follow the grooves as the cylinder revolves.
This cylinder is covered with tin foil, the crank is turned while the inventor talks, sings, shouts and whistles into the mouth-piece of the instrument, and the sound waving on the reverse side of the diaphragm or tympanum forces the needle to make impressions upon the tin foil. Reversing the instrument the needle drops into the same points in the grooves as the cylinder revolves. These indentations cause sound waves to be given back from the mouth piece in the exact tones of voice, with their exact inton-ations and so distinct that they were distinctly heard by every one in the room. "Old Uncle Ned" was sung.
Yankee Doodle whistled, poetry was recited, S. S. Cox made a speech, and when the cylinder was reversed and again set in motion, whistle, speech and poetry all sounds forth clear and distinct. One unbelieving member thought it was ventriloquism and insisted upon Edison's leaving the room, after which he tried the experiment himself; leaning back in his chair with a face full of astonishment exclaimed, "I'll be d—d if the thing don't talk." We should like to tell more of this wonderful inventor and invention but we must turn now to more practical things.

This time the cry comes from the Post Office Department who report ten thousand post offices out of registered letter blanks, and no money to print any and send them. That this is inconceivable the public is shown by the fact that the Department has on file orders for over three million and a half of blanks.

The manifest improvement in the business outlook is greatly encouraging all classes. Many banks are paying out specie and thousands upon thousands of gold is coming into use thereby greatly increasing the amount of money in circulation. It is stated that over $100,000,000 of gold and silver that has been hidden out of sight will now be added to the available capital of the country. This inflation of the currency is a good thing, and will stimulate the depressed valuations and give them stability. It makes little difference now whether the "Resurrection act" is repealed or not.
Practical resumption has already commenced. FAX.

The Antecedents of Disease.
Among the antecedents of disease are impurity in the circulation of the blood, an in-naturally attenuated condition of the physique, indicating that the life current is deficient in nutritive properties, a wan, haggard look, inability to digest the food, loss of appetite, sleep and strength, and a sensation of unnatural languor. All these may be regarded as among the indices of impending disease, which will eventually involve the system and overwhelm it if not checked against it. It is not built up and fortified in advance, investigate, then, without loss of time, making choice of the greatest vitalizing agent extant, Foster's Stomach Bitters, an elixir which gives health, and vigor to myriads of the sick and debiltated, which is approved by physicians and analysts to be pure as well as effective, which is immorally popular in this country, and extensively used abroad, and which has been for years past one of the leading medical staples of America. May.

When bran new pianos can be bought for $125, and pianos containing Muthusiek's New Patent Duplex Overstrung Scale—which the highest musical authorities acknowledge to be the greatest improvement ever put into a square piano—for only $200, we ought to become a musical and music-loving people. This is what the Mendelssohn Piano Co., 21 East 57th Street, New York, are doing—selling pianos from their factory at these prices, and all style—Grand, Square and Upright.
The great reputation of these pianos—having been unanimously recommended by the highest honors at the great Centennial Exhibition—and the high character of the company for honorable and straightforward dealing, should insure for them liberal patronage. The illustrated and descriptive catalogue, of forty odd pages, giving an account of their vulcanized lumber process, and highest testimonials of leading musicians, will be mailed free to all, and all inquiries by letter cheerfully answered.
